This document is a result of scanning reproductions of xerox copies, typewritten and dot matrix printer documents that were circulated among various family members in the early years.

As you explore these pages, you may notice that some of them are slightly tilted. While I have made efforts to straighten the most severely tilted pages and enhance readability, please bear in mind that these are the original documents and it takes time to straighten the "horizon line."

The family tree presented here may contain outdated information and occasional omissions of certain details. I invite you to contribute corrections, additions, and any other details you may have.

RESEARCH FROM NORMA

Did you ever wonder why thousands of Germans came to America from Russia?

In 1764 Catherine the Great, the German Princess ruling Russia, issued one of the most enticing colonization promises in history: 'Any German subject consenting to settle in my Russia will be given land practically free and will be ensured freedom of worship, freedom from taxation, self-rule within your own German settlement, freedom to conduct education in your own language and perpetual freedom from military service'.

When Catherine Died in 1796 her promises to her German settlements were forgotten and they became subjects of the Tsar and subject to his government. Thus the mass emigrations to the United States of America. Interesting, huh?

HISTORICAL INFORMATION FROM NORMA

- "Emigration from Germany to Russia in the Years 1763 to 1862"
by Karl Stumpp.
"From Catherine to Khrushchev" by Adam Giesinger.
"The Black Sea Germans in the Dakotas" by George Rath

For almost a century German people streamed into the vast Russian empire and established themselves in more or less enclaved areas of settlement on the Volga, near Petersburg, in the Black Sea region, and in South Caucasus. Basic to the entire emigration in the period was the manifesto of the Empress Catherine II issued July 22, 1763. The most important stipulations contained in the ordinance were: The Free exercise of religion, exemption from land taxes for 10 - 30 years and for 10 years in the cities, Interest-free loans for the purchase of equipment, Exemption from military service for "unlimited time", Self Administration of the community and the school, Free apportionment by the Crown of 30-80 *dessiatine of land to each family. Russia was sparsely populated and the new land had to be opened up, there was na need of capable and industrious workers, above all, farmers. Having explained the reasons that led the Russian governments ot offer favorable conditions of settlement in Russia, we need to examine the reasons that occasioned the emigration of so many Germans from their homeland. They can be summed up: Political reasons - military service, foreign occupations, wars, suppression by their own governments or ruling princes. Economic reasons - crop failures, high taxes, year of famine and lack of living space. Religious reasons - especially in Wurttemberg. Personal reasons - relations of kinship with princely houses, relationship with earlier emigrants.

Almost exactly a century after the first Germans had settled in Russia came the earliest of a series of Russian legislative enactments which affected the colonists adversely and led many of them to leave Russia to seek new homes in North and South America. The process began in the reign of Alexander II and continued under Alexander III with Russification measures designed to assimilate the colonists into the Russian peasantry. It went to extremes under the last Tsar, just before and during the war, with measures of economic discrimination, confiscation of property and even deportation to the east (Germany).

* A Russian unit of land measure is equal to 2.7 acres

R E V I S K A I A - S K A S K A (CENSUS REGISTRATION)

CENSUS YEAR 1840 Village of S U L Z. Beresan Colony

Fam. No. 56: J O S E P H F O R S T E R, 28, son of Adam Emigrated from H e r x h e i m/Germersheim, Rheinpfalz (Ger).
His wife: Annamaria, 25, daughter of colonist KNITTEL. of Oberseebach/Alsat.
Children: Elisabeth, 5; Susanna, 3; Margareta, 1 yr. She is BORN 1842
Mother Margareta Forster, daughter of Johann FRITZ, age 63 yrs.

Fam. No. 46: Johann EHLIS (Lutheran) from colony of Rohrbach was married to Katherina, 30, daughter of ADAM FORSTER.

Remarks: The name of pioneer settler ADAM FORSTER does not appear in the 1816 census records of SULZ. He may have arrived after 1816. In any event, his son Joseph was born in Herxheim/Rheinpfalz. So was his sister Katerina.

According to a footnote to the records of 1840: "All the FORSTERS emigrated to the USA."
